DDOE Eco-Tip: Send Your Holiday Cards Electronically!

The United States Census Bureau says Americans mail 1.9 billion holiday cards every year. The paper and ink for all of these cards, along with the fuel it takes to deliver them, have an enormous impact on the environment. As an eco-friendly alternative, try electronic holiday cards this year. Thousands of different designs are available, most including animation and sound. They arrive instantly, so you can even wait until the very last minute to send them.

You'll also save money and a trip to the post office or mailbox. Also, please be sure to recycle any holiday cards and envelopes you receive and don't want to save. Read more.
