

Join Together THIS Thursday and Participate in National Union Gear Day!

September 20, 2018 marks the expiration of our Collective Bargaining Agreement between the APWU and the USPS.

There is much at stake for members of the American Postal Workers Union as your negotiating committee is fighting to protect job security, win fair wage increases, maintain our COLA, expand rights of PTFs and PSEs alike, seek to end the divisive multi-tier wage structure and expand postal services.

We can all help show management that we, the workers, are united in demanding a fair and decent contract. Show solidarity and stand together united with the National Negotiations Committee these next two weeks of concentrated negotiations and beyond!

This Thursday, Sept. 13 and Thursday, Sept. 20 are the last two Union Gear Thursdays before our contract expires.

Make sure to 'Gear Up!' Coast-to-coast — Hawaii to Maine, Florida to Alaska — as we show the Postal Service that we are one, we are strong, we are united.

FIGHTING TODAY
for a BETTER
TOMORROW

Put on your buttons, wristbands, stickers, shirts, hats and other union gear!

Tag #APWUnited on social media, send us your images to nccc@apwu.org, and proudly display our solidarity!

Let's send a united message not only to the USPS but to the entire nation. Let them know that we, the members of the APWU, will use our power to win a fair contract!
